

Important Information Regarding Anti-Money Laundering (AML) Agent Training

Soon, Transamerica will be implementing a new AML training program that will be easier, faster and free.

In the meantime, the Quest Web site is no longer available. If you or your producers have received a recent letter with instructions about taking the initial or recertification AML training from the Quest Web site, please disregard. Once the new training is available, we will provide more information.

We will be sending a similar email tomorrow to those producers who may have received the recent letter about AML training and for whom we have email addresses.

